Divide the young people into teams.2. Line the teams up at one end of the room. Place the labels at the other end of the room, a set for each team.3. Share the Happy Families cards out between the teams. If they are already familiar with the cards you can go straight into playing the game, if not, maybe give them a few minutes to look at and share the information on the cards amongst their team.4. At the blow of a whistle, the game begins. Run the activity like a relay race; the first team member runs to the other end of the room with a card. When they get there, they have to make a decision about which continent the country is in and place it by the right continent label.5. The team member runs back to rejoin their team, and the next person takes their turn.6. When all the cards are placed, count up the ones which were correctly placed, perhaps giving them 1 point each and offering 5 points for the team who finished first.7. Spend some time looking at a world map and finding the places on the cards.
